Terry D. Dixon was born in Charleston, West Virginia. He graduated from the University of Florida in 1983 with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Journalism. While at the University of Florida, Terry was actively involved in Student Government, having served as Student Government Off Campus Housing Authority Coordinator along with working on the Student Government Public Relations Staff. Upon graduating from the University of Florida, Terry taught for one year at a high school in Orlando, Florida. Terry then went on to Mercer University School of Law, where he received his Juris Doctor degree in 1987.

Terry is a civil trial lawyer with over two decades of experience in personal injury and general insurance defense litigation. He began his legal career in 1987 with the Law Firm of DeWolf, Ward & Morris, P.A. In 1988, Terry moved to the firm of Sanders, McEwan, Martinez, Luff and Dukes where he specialized in medical malpractice and insurance defense litigation. In May 1995, Terry became the Senior Litigation Attorney at this firm's Central Florida office.

Terry's litigation experience includes general liability defense, premises liability defense including slip/trip falls, negligent and inadequate security, commercial vehicle and long-haul trucking claims, medical malpractice defense, representation of physicians before the Board of Medicine, insurance coverage disputes, property defense, and appellate practice.
